SHERIFF EMERY

Relates to the Court Confession Of Young Davies as to Bounty Frauds.

SAID PHILLIPS GOT THE MONEY.

Attorneys for Defense Attempt to Have The Case Dismissed - Closing Arguments.

The evidence in the bounty fraud case is all in and the state has rested is case Atty. Frank Gustin, at the onclusion of the evidence, arose and moved that the testimony of Roberts, Jose and Sheriff Emery be stricken from the record on the ground that the 'worpus delicti," or the case itself, had not yet been proven. The confession of Davies to Sheriff of Frank Emery was related by him during the latter part of the session of yesterday afternoon. He told how pavies, after his arrest, had told him the had not received any money himself for the bounties, but that Philips had. He said that he first got into the dirty work by accepting tips from the men, and that later they threatened him that there would be serious consequences if he did not issue certificates for greater numbers of animals than ser actually presented.

Philips, according to the witness, confessed to him that he had taken packages to Davies from the men, but that he did not know what they consided.

DEPUTIES TESTIFF.

Dist. Judge George G. Armstrong, pavid A. Smith and C. S. Buckwalter, all of whom were deputy clerks under county Clerk James at the time that haves filled a similar position, were alled to the stand yesterday. They restified that they had seen Roberts and Jones in the office on numerous ecasions with hides presented for bounty, and that they had seen Davies issue the scrip.

HANDWRITING THE SAME.

Rodney C. Badger, assistant cashier Rodney C. Badger, assistant cashier as McCornick's bank, was called as an apert on handwriting. He testified hat the signatures on the certificates of "John Ward," "Thomas Ray," "John Wade," "Ed Cook" were all executed by one man. He also swore that the signatures "James Gorhman" and "george King" were the handwriting of one man.

At the closing of court yesterday the atteneys for the defense were still arging their motion and this morning's

When a collector comes with his perlodical "dun" it is your privilege and right to throw him out is the strange contention Judge J. A. Webber and Attorney A. B. Edler presented to Judge Diehl yesterday in police court. The suit was brought against Fred Mo-Gurrin, who had been dunned and, according to the collector, "laid hands on him and shoved, pushed and pulled him half way down the hall."

The story of the affair is this: A collector of a local hardware company called at the home of Mr. McGurrin to collect for an oil stoye that had been called at the home of Mr. McGurrin to collect for an oil stove that had been purchased by Mr. McGurrin. The demand was made upon the wife of Mr. McGurrin. This stove, it appears, had been purchased from the hardware company. The bottom melted out one time and set fire to the house. For this reason Mr. McGurrin refused to pay for the stove. Hearing that the collector had called for payment he telephoned to the hardware store to have the same collector call at his office. John B. Milan, Jr., was sent to get the money. When he came there he was hustled quickly from the scene by Mr. McGurrin, who secured a strangle hold on the collector's coat collar, and the spare material in the seat of the unfortunate man's trousers. Judge Diehi dismissed the case, find-ing the preponderance of evidence in favor of the defendant.

Coffee Also Advancing, Due to a Shortage of Central American Crop.

"The tea market promises to make a marked advance," said the local representative of a prominent San Francisco house this morning. "This is due to the scarcity of tea pickers, so many of the Japanese who would otherwise be in the fields being in the armies on the continent fighting the Russians. This has sent wages up correspondingly. However, for the immediate future the advance is rather prospective because picking does not come until May, and continues through July, only in the face of a certainty of a future rise in cost of production, shippers may take the opportunity to advance prices on stocks now being disposed of.

"The tea consumed in Utah at large is 90 per cent Japanese, while in the mining camps the tea consumed is mostly Chinese. This last fact is said to be due to the presence there of so many foreigners, who prefer the Chinese article. Of the farmers, it is said that 99 per cent use the Japan teas. Utah is one of the largest tea consuming states in the Union per capita; and the article wholesales here at 45 cents to $2.10 per pound, and retails at 69 cents to $3 per pound."

"There is everything in knowing how cook tea. Most people let their tea There is everything in knowing how to cook tea. Most people let their tea steep in the leaves, sometimes for a considerable length of time. This is wrong, and the following method should be observed if we want to get the best out of the article: Scald out the tea pot, first thing. Then, put in one tea spoonful of the leaves for each cup despread and next pour holling hot fresh sired, and next pour holling hot fresh sired. spoonful of the leaves for each cup desired, and next pour boiling hot fresh water into the pot. Seven minutes is ample time in which to let the tea cock, as after that time, the strength is gone from the leaves, and development of tannic acid sets in. People may notice the puckery, gripy taste to teas that have stood for some time. This is the tannic acid, and it is not conducive to good digestion, in fact it is detrimental, and its presence in the stomach is to be avoided. Miss Dunham favored the boys with two vocal solos, which were much en-joyed, and Deacon Page told them an interesting story.

WE "LIKA DE BANAN."

Tropical Fruit Reaches Salt Lake by The Car Load-Plenty This Year.

Bananas are reported by local dealers as more plentiful and cheaper this year than last, one reason being that the weather down east has been too cold for the consumption of any large quantity, which has thrown back into the west more than usual of this very edible fruit. A car load was received in this city yesterday afternoon, from considerable.

It is interesting to know that the bananas reaching this market are from Central America, mainly from the state of Nicaragua, and the trees carry four crops a year. The fruit is, of course, shipped green to this country, ripening in transit. Denver is the farthest west general market for the New Orleans shipped fruit, and cars are sent west from there as special occasion may call for. Bananas are often shipped north in tramp cars; that is consignments leaving New Orleans unsold, and remaining in the cars until the cars can maining in the cars until the cars can be billed to some commission house to be found ready to take them. The wholesale prices are $1.50 to $3.00, and retail from 10 cents a dozen to two nd three for a nickel.
